

Activity idea:

Head, Eyes, Ears and Nose

Help your little one learn the parts of the body through this fun game

- Repeating words for parts of the face helps children learn them, especially when you also do the actions
- The more you name different parts and point them out, the quicker your little one will learn them. How many do they know?
- You could try doing this with your own face, the finger puppet in your pack or a character from one of the books
- You could also make this game into a song or use the rhyme on the back of your activity card. Children love rhymes and music, and they're great for learning and language development.

For more activity ideas visit
booktrust.org.uk/familyhub