

Captain Crocodile

CAPTAIN CROCODILE

By Matthew
Wiggins

Matthew was a normal boy. He was like all the others, he liked video games and he loved reading. He was ordinary until one day!

Matthew was watching a cooking show when suddenly an alien appeared.

"Hi", he said as he looked through Matthew's drawers, "I'm Jeff and I have a mission for you."

"Me, why me?" asked Matthew.

"The prophecy spoke of you. If you come, I'll give you super powers."

Matthew had always wanted super powers and now was his chance. So Matthew accepted and before he knew it, they were zooming through space.

On the trip Matthew asked Jeff why he needed help. Jeff said that Robotron had invaded his home town and had started to attack them. Even in football it was now Robo City v Aliens United.

When they arrived they landed in a forest. Jeff dressed Matthew in gladiator's armour. Matthew charged out of the forest and beat back the robots until he met Robotron.

"Hello chosen one. I heard you were here to deactivate me", Robotron uttered, but before he could finish Matthew had shut him down.

When he got back home Jeff announced, " You are now Captain Crocodile."

A snout started to appear on Matthew's face and slowly he mutated into a crocodile - his body fattened and a superhero costume appeared on him. He discovered he could fly and shoot purple lightning out of his hands. Captain Crocodile flew around the city looking for criminals or anyone doing harm.

He found a warehouse that seemed very suspicious but as it was late, and he was tired, he flew home and slept.

That night, inside the warehouse, a man named Ren Trencho made a potion that turned adults into crazed gorillas. On drinking the potion he became a super villain called Gorilla Gren.

The next day, Gorilla Gren attacked Matthew who quickly croc'd up.

Captain Crocodile was ready but just at that moment Matthew's friend Frank appeared and turned into the superhero, Agent Alligator.

"When I kill the city's superheroes I can rule the city and then the world," declared Gorilla Gren.

Gorilla Gren couldn't be beaten even with the power of two superheroes, but all of a sudden there was a puff of smoke, he turned back into Ren Trencho and was knocked to the ground. The police arrived and Ren was arrested.

"The potion must have worn off" said Frank.

"Yes" said Matthew.

Two days later Matthew explored the suspicious warehouse with his friend, Chuck Hardy, a seven year old local investigator. They found another potion which Chuck picked up and swallowed.

This turned him into the monkey super villain, Chuck Monkey, who then sealed Matthew into the warehouse after packing it with TNT. There was a terrible bang as the warehouse exploded injuring Chuck Monkey. Fortunately five seconds before the explosion, Jeff appeared and teleported Captain Crocodile to safety.

Back at home after crocing down Matthew & Jeff sat and ate a nice plate of delicious chocolate cookies.